For some excitement for our last day of touring, we will be heading to Fishing Creek Road after a coffee stop at the Robert Fulton Birthplace Historical Museum. Fishing Creek Road is a winding road the intertwines with the Fishing Creek. There are 3 cement basin creek fordings along the road. For those tour participants that do not wish to ford a creek 3 times with their brass era car, there will be a by pass in the directions. From Fishing Creek Road we will be heading to Britain Hill Winery for a buffet style lunch. On the way home we will pass through a few covered bridges and have our final Ice Cream Stop at the Down At The Farm Creamery (on your own) on the way back to the hotel.
